COUNTING MONEY.

The Way Uncle Sam's Experts Handle Bills and Coins.There is, broadly speaking, but one place in the United States where new money is always to be found in circulation. Very nearly everywhere else is to be found ragged, dirty, not to say filthy, paper money, germ laden and disease breeding. The question has often been put, "Why is this?"Congress makes appropriations amounting to many hundreds of millions annually for the government expenses. This enormous amount, which is backed by gold and silver in the treasury vaults, is printed every year in Washington and is issued through the treasury department. It must be recollected that, while banks all over the country issue old notes, the treasury never issues anything but new money.That is why the money in Washington is always new.There are more than 30,000 government employees at the national capital, and they are paid in bright, new notes twice every month. They distribute their money for the necessities of life, and hence a great deal of it is found in circulation.Another question with reference to the money supply is often propounded, "How long does it take for the women experts in the treasury department to count 1,000,000 new one dollar notes, and how long does it take to count 1,000,000 old notes of that denomination?" According to the treasury officials, the answer is as follows:In handling new notes an expert could count in a day of eight hours about $50,000. Of course this refers to notes of the denomination of $1. In counting gold certificates of the denomination of $10,000 each it would require but a short time to count $1,000,000.At this rate twenty days would be occupied in counting $1,000,000 represented by notes of the denomination of $1. However, it is hardly possible that any one could keep up to these figures for such a period, and it would be safe to add five days and to say that $1,000,000 (paper) could be counted in twenty-five days.Of silver dollars 40,000 may be counted in a day of eight hours, which rate, if adhered to, would finish the $1,000,000 in twenty-five days, but it would be well to add five days here for the same reason and make it thirty days for counting 1,000,000 silver dollars.In counting old notes the conditions are much changed. There are five different kinds of paper money —gold certificates, silver certificates, United States notes (greenback), treasury notes of 1890 and national bank notes. Remittances of mutilated currency may contain all these different kinds of currency. They may not be assorted properly by denominations and may be badly mutilated. Where cases of this kind occur the count is tedious and slow. But, assuming that the currency sent is in accordance with the regulations, an expert could, on an average, count $15,000 in one dollar notes a day. This would require about seventy days to count a million one dollar bills in old notes of various kinds of paper currency. —Chicago Inter Ocean.

How He Got Him.

A New York dramatist was one evening visiting a well known player's dressing room when there was handed in an appeal for financial assistance, written in the French language by an actor, a Britisher, who prides himself on his knowledge of that tongue.To the dramatist's astonishment, the player to whom the note was addressed immediately proceeded to hand the messenger the amount asked for."Surely, Henry," interposed the friend, "you're not going to let him have the money? Why, the man is known everywhere as—""Yes, yes," interrupted the other, "I know that. But you don't suppose I can afford to have him going about town telling every one that I can't read French!" —Harper's Weekly.

The Domestic Cat.

Experts have held that the so called "cat" of the ancient Romans and Greeks ("ailurus" the way tailed one) was not a cat at all, but a kind of weasel. The mummified Egyptian animal, however, was a genuine cat, even if certain peculiarities about its teeth make it difficult to regard it as a near relative of the modern domestic puss. The exact origin of the latter remains a puzzle. It appears first mysteriously in the middle ages, when it was decidedly rare and highly prized throughout Europe, though the wild cat still abounded everywhere, and experts have not been able to satisfy themselves that the domestic cat and the wild one are really the same. —Chicago News.Only a little cold in the head may
